REMARKS OF MAYOR MENNA

Mayor Menna said he would be hosting public sessions where he would meet with members of the public prior to a Council meeting once a month for an open dialog. He also said he would be reinstating his Saturday morning neighborhood meetings in the spring with dates to be announced.

He said in 2019 the Council had kept its eyes on the prize. He said they had done a critical self analysis two years ago and had started implementing some of the recommendations. He thanked the professionals for helping to keep them focused over the past year. He noted the Borough had received over $1 million in grants and credited the residents of the Borough for getting the word out that Red Bank is a great place to play, work and live. He also credit the support of various elected officials for Red Bank success.

He also reported that Red Bank did not shrink from its Mount Laurel obligation to provide affordable housing. He said the Supreme Court had mandated they provide such housing and said Red Bank did not fight the obligation as some other town had but had made incredible strides. He said sometimes it was painful but said they were moving forward.

He highlighted various projects on the horizon and he said they would continue to move forward with Environmental initiatives such as the recent plastics ban.

He cited the many improvement projects underway in the Train Station Redevelopment Area that would bring economic vitality to that area. He also reviewed the Monmouth Street corridor improvements that were the result of assistance from Rutgers University graduate students.

He offered his congratulations to returning Council members Horgan and Yngstrom and thanked his colleagues for professionalism. He said, most importantly, he wanted to thank the residents for their support.
