Councilman Bifani said the contractor has fallen short and all of the bad weather made the situation even worst.

Mr. Koscenski said three quarters of Leroy Place was paved and then we found out there was a sewer problem. He said the road would be finished as soon as the sewer repair was completed. OLD BUSINESS

Councilwoman Thompson asked if there was an ordinance regarding the removal of political signs.

Mayor McKenna said there is.

Councilman Hintelmann said that he would speak to the Chief regarding the removal of the signs.

NEW BUSINESS

AUDIENCE

David Prown – 44 Hillside Place – said that he has four sets of golf clubs that were donated to Parks and Recreation. He commented on the lack of interest in Parks and Recreation Programs and asked if the duties assigned to the new Director of Parks and Recreation is a public record.

Mr. Sickels said he would check and see if this document is a public record.

Mr. Prown said that changing the ten-hour meters to three-hour meters would create a lot of parking for customers in the White Street lot with minimal costs to the residents.

Councilwoman Thompson asked Mr. Prown what he thinks can be done to recruit more children to the Parks and Recreation Department programs.

Mr. Prown said that it has to be a town wide effort because we are not doing something right. He said that maybe we have to change the location of the facilities.

Mayor McKenna said it breaks his heart to see the children not interested in participating in the Parks and Recreation Programs and is going to ask our new director to come up with some ideas on getting the children interested in the programs and make this one of her primary goals.

John Murphy – 26 Philip Drive – Middletown – said that he has been trying to submit applications for taxi owners' licenses in the Borough and has been rejected and is asking the governing body for a waiver regarding the requirement for a business office in the Borough.

Councilman Curley asked what the waiver is for.

Mr. Murphy said our ordinance states that the owner must have a registered business office in the Borough and said the ordinance was written 50 years ago and is obsolete.

Councilman Curley asked Mr. Murphy if his cars were in good condition.

Mr. Murphy said he has great, clean cars.

Mr. Murphy submitted his applications to Mayor McKenna.

Tom Fiskin – Readies Fine Foods – Monmouth Street – said the funds received from the increased fees for parking should go into their own account and should not be used for budget shortfalls. He also said that he does not think the meters on the street will stop employees from parking there.

Mayor McKenna said there was a discussion at the last council meeting regarding the construction of a parking facility. He said that he has had several meetings with private developers and said there might be something to report to the public soon. He said we are eliminating ten-hour meters from the White Street parking lot and said there would be an additional fifty spaces for employee permit parking. He said increasing the fees for parking and the implementation of meters on the streets in the downtown district have been discussed for two years. He said we are working feverishly to address the parking needs. He said that he spoke at a conference on revitalization and when he told the other municipalities what we were charging for parking they said it was very low.

Mr. Fiskin said that meter feeding is a problem.

Mayor McKenna said that he should speak to Mr. Burnip about this problem.

Mr. Fiskin said he wanted to commend the governing body for their actions and hope they support a parking garage.

Joe Carasa – 68 Broad Street – presented a petition to reconsider part of or all of the ordinance raising the fees and placing meters on the streets with 329 signatures. He said the rates are being raised for employee permit parking and the permits are only good Monday through Friday, instead of Monday through Saturday.

Mr. Sickels said that change was suggested by the merchants because so many employee permit spaces are empty on Saturday. He said employees would be able to use their permits in those spaces.

Mr. Carasa said that we were going to raise the fees two years ago and stopped. He said it is going to be very difficult for storeowners to give change to customers to pay for the parking meters.

Mayor McKenna said it is done in every town comparable to Red Bank and people get use to bringing change with them.

Mr. Carasa said that shopping malls do not have meters and said enforcing the ordinance until 8 p.m. is a bit excessive. He said he hopes the excess money collected from the increased fees will be going into a dedicated account for a parking garage.

Mayor McKenna said that he has a lot of respect for Mr. Carasa but these issues are not new and have been around for a long time. He said the merchants have suggested a lot of the changes and one of the biggest offenders of parking on the streets are the merchants. He asked Mr. Carasa to give us some suggestions. He said it is not easy to manage this and accommodate everyone's needs. He said this is one of the reasons we brought Mr. Burnip in.

Bill Meyer – 12 Monmouth Street – said he is opposed to placing meters on Monmouth Street after all of the work that was recently completed on streetscape. He said that Red Bank Catholic students create a parking problem and the excess funds collected from the increase should be earmarked for a parking garage.

Linda Cohen – 28 Riverside Avenue – said she is a resident and business owner and feels that a three-hour parking limit is a quality of life issue because it does not give customers enough time to visit Red Bank. She said if people get tickets they would not come back to the town.

Mayor McKenna said the merchants have asked the governing body to get rid of the ten-hour meters in the White Street parking lot to create more spaces for customers, he said we might have to increase the time on some of the meters from three-hours to five-hours.

Ms. Cohen said there should be some compromises because if the downtown does poorly it affects the entire town.

Councilwoman Thompson said we would like some time to review all of the comments we have heard this evening and discuss them with our professionals.

Mayor McKenna said we are always willing to revisit the ordinance and amend it, as we deem necessary.

Nicola Bowers – 1612 Walton Way – Wall – said she thinks the meters are a good idea and would be more effective if we had a parking garage. She said we need a place for long-term parkers. She said she has been an advocate of a parking garage or an attended lot.

Pete Esposito – 69 Broad Street – thinks the governing body should reconsider the ordinance because the businesses did not have any input into the ordinance.

Jason Simon – 43 Monmouth Street – said he has heard a lot of great points and is happy about the removal of the ten-hour meters in the White Street lot but suggested the time be changed from three hours to four hours.

Mario Medici – 26 Broad Street – said his employees would have a hard time parking in the White Street lot because they work four-hour shifts.

Lloyd Garrison – 25 Broad Street – has been in Red Bank for nine years now and parking is always a problem. He suggested using the Globe Court garage for additional parking and said with the terrible economy it is a bad time to increase the parking fees.

Trisha Rumola – Red Bank RiverCenter – said they have been receiving a lot of calls opposing the increase in parking fees and the lack of employee parking.

Kristen Hunter – 40 Broad Street – said she has worked in Red Bank for five years and has received eighty-two parking tickets, totaling over $1000. She asked that more spaces be dedicated for employee parking.

Henry Shultz – Chelsea Morning – White Street – has been in business for thirty-two years and has heard about numerous parking studies. He said we are in competition with the malls and strip malls and said the money that was realized from the sale of the Globe Court garage should be used to solve the parking problem here.

John Bowers – 288 Rt. 34 – Colts Neck – said the parking shortage in this town is probably over 2000 spaces. He said he has been to numerous parking garages throughout the United States and the only solution to our problem is to build a parking garage.

Carol Arosotic – 122 Riverside Avenue – said she is against the rental registration ordinance and feels the information that is asked for is unnecessary.

Mr. Sickels said the state has adopted legislation that would keep the information confidential.

Ms. Arosotic asked if there is a fee associated with the ordinance.

Mr. Sickels said it is $50 per unit, not to exceed $5,000 and a $20 fee to update the information.

Peg McCulloh – 28 English Plaza – said that she read in the newspaper that the new meter rates would be ten cents a minute.

Mayor McKenna said that was a mistake and it is ten cents for ten minutes or fifty cents an hour.

Mrs. McCulloh said we should be concerned about ticketing vehicles because once someone gets a ticket they will not come back to shop in Red Bank.

Mayor McKenna said he receives letters from individuals that are ticketed downtown and they say they would not continue to shop in Red Bank. He said we will do everything we can to address this problem and it helps to get feedback from the merchants but the simple fact is we need more parking spaces. He thanked everyone for attending the meeting and thanked them for their comments.
